Your impact so far

Click here to watch a short message from one of the towns we visited.

Because of your kindness, those who have survived displacement, violence or instability now have greater access to safety, dignity and support. Your compassion is helping restore confidence, rebuild resilience and break cycles of trauma. You are already transforming lives.

24 safe spaces were created for women and girls, providing confidential areas to encourage healing

4,117 people have used these spaces for discussions, workshops and psychosocial care

566 survivors of sexual and gender-based violence have received support and counselling

2,980 dignity or hygiene kits have been distributed, restoring the confidence of women and girls

48,127 people reached through awareness campaigns, shaping safer communities through education

Women and girls are already reporting that they feel more supported and better prepared, thanks to programs made possible by your generosity. On behalf of CLWR and our partners, thank you for standing with women and girls in Colombia.
