CLIMATE & ECONOMY

When the sun rises... People go out to their work and to their labor until the evening.

—Psalm 104:22-23

Did you know...

For generations, most livelihoods around Lake Chad have been tied to the land and the lake. As land and water become more scarce because of climate change, so do these livelihoods, causing local economies to unravel.

Your support is helping...

As families and small businesses look for ways to adapt, your support is promoting sustainable livelihoods that are resilient to climate changes. This includes everything from improving soil health and promoting sustainable agriculture, to supporting women's cooperatives, skills training and market access.

Please pray...

To our God of Hope, for those whose harvests have thinned and whose nets return empty. Pray for those seeking new skills, those providing training, and for the women who are shaping new futures with their own hands.
