YOUR IMPACT IN ETHIOPIA

BACKGROUND

Agriculture had long played an important role in Tigray, Ethiopia, by providing food and means of income for families and communities, but the war between 2020 and 2022 decimated the region.

Attacks on civilians and their homes led to mass internal displacement. With no access to clean water, severe drought and farmers' fields destroyed, millions of people suffered.

KEY IMPACT

Thanks to your fast and generous response, female-headed households will be offered the protection of safe houses set up in the region. Programs will offer shelter and psycho-social support to women and girls who have experienced gender-based violence (GBV).

Cash will also be provided to help families purchase medication, food, and household items to address immediate needs. This cash support will also help women set up income generating activities such as small businesses, with livelihood training provided at the safe houses and the region.

Because of your kindness, families who have suffered in Tigray will have a better tomorrow. Thank you.
